White Collar Crime Detection and Prosecution

I. INTRODUCTION:

Since early 1973, the King County Prosecutor's Office, through its Fraud Division, has participated in the Economic Crime Project of the National District Attorneys Association. The project, federally funded through LEAA, consists of a national clearing house in Washington, D.C. and 15 carefully selected participating county jurisdictions from across the country. The advisory board for the project consists of an Economic Crime Comittee within the NDAA and the 15 county prosecutors who meet annually to discuss the progress of the project.

II. GOALS:

The principal goals of the project are:

- 1. To establish separate identifiable units within prosecutors' offices for the detection and prosecution of white-collar crime, aggravated consumer frauds and crimes resulting in economic losses to business commonly referred to as "economic crime."
- 2. To lend financial and informational support to the project offices.
- 3. To work with existing fraud units (such as King County's) in transferring experience and expertise to newly created offices.
- 4. To work with the unit chiefs from the project offices to establish national priorities for fraud prosecutions.

1974-75 OBJECTIVES: (1) One of the project objectives is to involve other offices outside the project in its clearing house activities and to encourage project offices to aid and assist in the development of fraud units within the region of the project office; (2) to allocate funds to participating project offices in order to further investigation and prosecution within the project priority areas and to strengthen the overall operation of the fraud units.

III. FUNDS AVAILABLE TO KING COUNTY:

King County's allocation: From the most recent LEAA grant to the project (1.5 million) effective 1 September 1974 is $42,500. These funds are made available directly to the county through the NDAA. The funds are earmarked for personnel; some project connected travel funds and long distance phone charges are also available in addition to the $42,500. There is no formal grant contract required between King County and NDAA. These funds are not part of the state law and justice grant money. The money is made available simply by commitment on the part of the prosecutor to use such funds within the above guidelines. There is a match requirement of 10,000, which can be met by allocation of regularly appropriated funds presently budgeted for the Fraud Division.

IV. LONG-RANGE EFFECT:

Unlike other grants, the long-range effect of these grant funds will not create future employment commitments on the part of the county. Likewise these funds are separate and apart from the regular budget request for the Fraud The funds will be used primarily for investigators Division. with some perhaps allocated to part-time legal interns. The funds used for investigative support of the Fraud Division will be used primarily for the training of police detectives presently engaged in criminal investigatory work within King County law enforcement agencies. has been done in the past, detectives will be assigned to the Fraud Division for periods ranging from six months to nine months on a reimbursement basis. At the conclusion of the training period, the investigative personnel return to their respective agencies. In this fashion, a cadre of law enforcement officers trained in detection and investigation in the white-collar crime area will be formed while at the same time the Fraud Division is assisted in its case development work by additional investigative support.

In the event regular police detectives are not available or do not require all the funds available, investigative personnel can be contracted for a period not exceeding the availability of grant funds.

V. CONCLUSION:

The project goals are consistent with the fraud division's mission and consistent with creating a climate of enforcement and deterrence in the area of white-collar crime. There is much need for training and consciousness raising on the part of police departments in this area of law enforcement. The losses from white-collar crime nationally are estimated to be in excess of 40 billion dollars by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. This amount exceeds all losses from crimes against property such as auto theft and burglary. The use of these temporary funds for training and interim investigative support for the Fraud Division's mission in this area would appear to be investing in a much needed area of law enforcement.
