1 AN ORDINANCE adopting the 2002 Annual Budget and
2 making appropriations for the operation of county agencies
3 and departments and capital improvements for the fiscal year
4 beginning January 1, 2002 and ending December 31, 2002.

7 STATEMENT OF FACTS:

- 8 1. Tragic events of September 11, 2001, resulted in loss of life and 9 significant disruptions to workers nationwide. The event has deteriorated
10 an already unstable economy. Job losses have escalated. There is reason to 11 believe that those citizens needing government services will 12 proportionately increase in relation to the number of layoffs.
- 13 2. Air transportation, transportation services, hotels, eating and drinking 14 establishments and related service businesses were affected by the 15 aftermath of the terrorist attacks and the widespread decline in travel
16 following September 11.
- 17 3. Commercial airline customers have notified Boeing that they will have 18 to delay taking delivery of as many as thirty-two airplanes, each valued at

19 between fifty million dollars and two hundred million dollars. Boeing 20 blames the delays for its decision to cut as many as thirty thousand jobs in 21 its Seattle-area commercial aircraft manufacturing group by the end of 22 2002.

23 4. Washington state's economy is officially in recession. The state's top
24 economist, Dr. Chang Mook Sohn, confirms that the recession will likely 25 be worse than the slowdown of the early 1990s.

26 5. Washington State has seen its unemployment rate jump from five
27 percent in January 2001 to a seasonally adjusted six and six-tenths percent
28 in October 2001. Washington State has lost over thirty-seven thousand
29 jobs since January – over thirty thousand of those in metropolitan King
30 County.

31 6. A Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco senior advisor predicts U.S.
32 economic output will fall more than two percent in the current quarter and 33 almost one percent in the first quarter of next year.

34 7. In early October, more than a quarter of six hundred sixty-nine finance
35 chiefs said they were postponing planned capital expenditures as a result
36 of the attacks, according to a survey by Financial Executives International 37 and Duke University's Fuqua School of Business.

38 8. The metropolitan King County council's budget and fiscal management 39 committee has held five special meetings to accept public testimony on the 40 FY 2002 budget. Most citizens who testified represented a group interest.

41 Testimony received at the special meetings and through electronic 42 testimony stands at more than three hundred fifty-five.

43 9. Throughout these hearings reoccurring themes have emerged: protect
44 the ability of the public to receive health care through our community
45 clinics; provide a mechanism through which the “working poor” can:
46 continue to receive child care subsidies while agreements are reached with 47 our suburban partners; continue to provide the most fragile members of 48 our economy access to vital food through food bank distribution and 49 provide assistance to the elderly in need of aging services.

50 10. On November 6, 2001, King County residents rejected I-747,
51 signaling strong preference to their leaders that it is time to move forward
52 in unison to address the complex problems of governing and providing 53 need public services. This council has heard that message and puts forth a 54 spending plan that balances the disparate needs facing this county in 2002.

55 BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF KING COUNTY:

KING COUNTY CLERK
COUNCIL

The Honorable Pete von Reichbauer, Chair
Metropolitan King County Council
Room 1200
COURTHOUSE

Dear Chair von Reichbauer:

Today, I signed the 2002 Budget Ordinance. I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank Council Chair Pete von Reichbauer and the other members of the County Council, particularly Councilmember Larry Phillips and Councilmember Jane Hague, for their fine work in adopting a balanced and fiscally prudent 2002 County Budget. This difficult budget process was completed through a bipartisan effort from the County Council. I am optimistic that this signals a new era in our government – public policy discussion conducted in a cooperative and collaborative manner – which is the best way for us to address issues, as well as the county's operations, in 2002 and beyond.

I commend the Council for the difficult decisions it had to make in order to adopt this budget. The process was not easy. Demands on our services have increased and expenditures are growing faster than revenues. Additionally, Initiative 747 coupled with the decreases in projected sales tax revenues, mean that even more reductions had to be made. This picture does not look like it will improve as we move into next year.

The economic outlook for King County has taken a sharp downward turn since September 11. The region is now in the midst of a recession with declines in employment, retail sales, and housing permits. September sales tax receipts show the effect of September 11: receipts are 12.6% below figures from this same time last year. Holiday shopping will be an important determinant of 2001 receipts, as over 10% of the County's annual receipts occur in the month of December. Our final quarter sales tax forecast reflects a reduction of over 6% from last year and next year's sale tax estimates are projected to be an additional 2% lower than this year. The Budget Office will continue to closely monitor monthly sales tax receipts for needed revisions.

Local economists forecast an upturn in the economy by the end of 2002. Should this recovery be delayed or weaker than anticipated, it may be necessary to adjust 2002 revenue estimates mid-year. My staff will closely monitor the economic conditions for impact on King County. If the recovery is weaker than predicted, I may be forced to consider mid-year reductions to this Adopted Budget. I will continue to work closely with the County Council on these issues throughout next year.

The Honorable Pete von Reichbauer

On behalf of the employees and citizens of King County, I pledge my continued efforts in establishing a solid and workable plan to address the ongoing funding of County services. I will work with local leaders and the State Legislature to seek viable financial solutions for King County.

The 2002 Adopted Budget Ordinance has some technical issues that will require action to resolve. I intend to send the Council these correction items in next year's Quarterly Omnibus Ordinance.

I want to thank all of you once again for the cooperative and bipartisan approach to the 2002 Budget. Our ability to work together and address King County's significant financial challenges serves our citizens well.

Sincerely,

Ron Sims
