5 WHEREAS, performance management is an effective mechanism that may be 6 used by county residents, elected leaders and policy makers to prioritize county goals and 7 align public resources and services to those goals, and

8 WHEREAS, the metropolitan King County council is the policy making body of 9 King County, and

10 WHEREAS, the council has been the leader in promoting performance 11 management in King County, and

12 WHEREAS, in October 2002, the council adopted Motion 11561, which 13 encouraged the executive to broaden and deepen the use of performance measurement
14 throughout county government as a way of enhancing management of scarce resources 15 and demonstrating accountability, and

16 WHEREAS, in June 2003, the council passed Motion 11739, which created a 17 collaborative performance measurement work group to advise the county auditor and 18 requested the executive to participate, and

19 WHEREAS, in September 2004, the council passed Motion 12005, that expanded 20 the collaborative performance measurement work group to include all branches of county 21 government and empowered the performance measurement work group to develop a 22 work plan to determine feasible next steps to promote a uniform, countywide 23 performance measurement and reporting system, and

24 WHEREAS, in July 2005, the council passed Motion 12161, which called for the 25 countywide performance measurement work group to develop a plan with feasible next 26 steps for establishing a countywide system of strategic performance measurement and 27 reporting that is directly linked to resource allocation decisions and is publicly reported, 28 and

29 WHEREAS, in September 2006, the labor, operations and technology committee
30 recommended that the council approve Proposed Motion 2006-0443, which would adopt 31 a work plan to develop and implement a countywide performance management system,
32 and

33 WHEREAS, a performance management system consists of five key sequential 34 components: 1. establish priorities for county government; 2. define and clearly 35 articulate missions and organizational priorities for elected agencies and executive 36 departments in strategic/business plans; 3. connect central missions and organizational 37 priorities in strategic/business plans for elected agencies and executive departments 38 directly to the priorities of county government; 4. ensure that performance measures are

39 publicly reported for both county priorities and for organizational priorities for elected 40 agencies and executive departments so that the public, elected officials, managers and 41 staff can assess county performance in meeting its priorities; and 5. link priorities,
42 missions and performance measures with the policy making, management and budget 43 processes to demonstrate accountability and to ensure that scarce public funds are 44 provided to support county priorities, and

45 WHEREAS, the council has established organizational priorities for county 46 human services through adoption of the human services policy framework, and

47 WHEREAS, the council has established priorities and performance measures for 48 county criminal justice systems and services through adoption of operational master plans 49 the adult and juvenile detention systems and the family law portion of superior court, and

50 WHEREAS, in October 2006, the council is planning to review and adopt 51 priorities for expenditures of veterans and human services levy funds for the 2007 52 through 2011 King County budgets through adoption of the King County veterans and 53 human services improvement plan, and

54 WHEREAS, the council has established county priorities for county growth 55 management through adoption of the King County growth management and 56 comprehensive plans, and

57 WHEREAS, the council has established county priorities for county parks,
58 recreation and open space services through adoption of the parks omnibus and open space 59 systems plan, and

60 WHEREAS, in 2002, the council established priorities for county transit services 61 through adoption of the six-year transit development plan, and

62 WHEREAS, the council has established county priorities and performance 63 measures for several areas, but not all, of county government, and

64 WHEREAS, the council chooses to further its development of a performance
65 management system by establishing countywide priorities for the 2007 budget process
66 and using these countywide priorities as a framework to review the proposed 2007 King 67 County budget, and

68 WHEREAS, in Spring 2007, the council intends to provide policy direction, by 69 motion, to the county executive regarding countywide priorities for the 2008 budget, and

70 WHEREAS, King County will conduct a broader priority-setting process
71 involving the public and separately elected officials from all branches of county 72 government through implementation of the work plan to develop and implement a 73 countywide performance management system;

74 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT MOVED by the Council of King County:

75 The council intends that the King County 2007 budget supports the priorities of

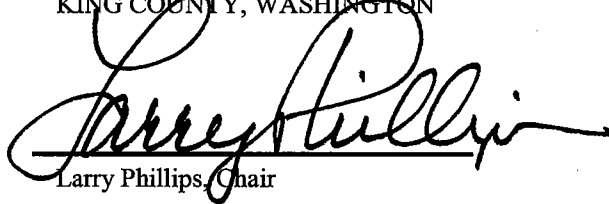

Motion 12367

76 county government as described in the attached Priorities for People - The 2007 King 77 County Budget.
