Danville-Georgetown Open Space

Danville-Georgetown Open Space is part of a large landscape of working forest lands close to urban cities. The open space, including Danville-Georgetown and nearby Henry's Ridge, was dedicated to King County in exchange for the ability to develop the Maple Ridge Highlands subdivision, through the Four-to-One Program.

The site is adjacent to Summit Trail Middle School and is mostly forested. Former logging roads provide the backbone of an extensive trail system. West of Danville-Georgetown Open Space is the Rock Creek Natural Area. To the south and east is the City of Kent Watershed and privately owned working forest land. Access on to private land is by landowner permission.

DANVILLE GEORGETOWN

Danville -Georgetown Open Space is a 340-acre park located east of the City of Maple Valley in King County. It is a multi-use King County park named to reflect historical reference to the railroad line that traveled through the site and the former Georgetown mining town. Danville-Georgetown Open Space is predominantly used by hikers and horseback riders who perform the majority of stewardship and trail maintenance at the park.
